

Dear readers

We are pleased to present you the 2nd exclusive conference newsletter and provide you with important information and a detailed programme, breakout sessions, speakers, conference dinner, conference publication, conference location and hotel accommodation.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in London!

Kind regards
EfH-Newsletter-Team

The current topics

Online registration

Online registration for the London conference is running on our 'Enterprise for Health' website. more...

Conference Programme

This two-day conference will present the latest expert thinking on employees' health in the rapidly changing world of work and address the key issues of workplace health. We are very much looking forward to outstanding keynote speeches, participative breakout sessions and a first-class plenary debate. more...

Breakout Sessions

On both days of the conference, parallel breakout sessions will take place on the theme "Managing healthy work – learning from each other". The sessions will provide an interesting mix of expert input, models of good practice, and discussions between the participants - a unique opportunity to learn how managers in leading international companies are facing up to the human challenges of globalisation, technological innovation and ageing workforces. more...

Speakers

The conference will be opened by Lord McKenzie, Under Secretary (Lords) at the Department for Work and Pensions, UK, Liz Mohn, Vice Chair of the Executive Board, Bertelsmann Stiftung, and Rita Süßmuth, president of the network 'Enterprise for Health' on 30 October. National Director for Health & Work, UK, Dame Carol Black, will open the second day. Speakers will include Prof. Cary Cooper of the Lancaster University Management School, UK; Prof. Juhani Ilmarinen of the renowned Finnish Institute of Occupational Health and Prof. James O'Toole of the University of Southern California, USA. more...

Conference Dinner and Speech

The conference fee includes attendance of our official conference dinner, which is being held aboard the elegant flagship of the Silver Fleet. Apart from the ebb and flow of London's contemporary riverscape, a particular highlight will be the dinner speech "Total Leadership", which is being delivered by Prof. Stewart D. Friedman from the University of Pennsylvania. more...

Conference Publication

All participants will receive our comprehensive conference publication. It will include articles written by our experts as well as company contributions that provide an overview of the different approaches utilised by organisations in tackling the conference topics. A preview: more...

Conference Venue

EfH member GlaxoSmithKline (GSK) is a UKbased global pharmaceutical company. GSK's corporate headquarters in West London, 12 miles from Heathrow Airport, is an ultramodern, landmark office. The impressive edifice achieves ambitious environmental goals, supports the collaborative culture of the company. more...

Hotel Accommodation

The 'Enterprise for Health' conference office has reserved rooms at fixed rates at several hotels not far from the conference venue. Free coach transfer to and from the conference centre is not the only advantage of staying at one of our conference hotels. more...

Visit London

'When a man is tired of London, he is tired of life! - London has become one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world. This multi-cultural capital is full of history, heritage and culture, yet one of the most fast-moving, cosmopolitan cities on the planet. more...

Some of the topics and articles reported in this newsletter are not available on other individual websites - only here. All information is protected by copyright. We would be only too pleased if you were to recommend this newsletter to other addressees.

Imprint:

BKK Federal Association - Department of Health, Kronprinzenstrasse 6, 45128 Essen
<http://www.enterprise-for-health.org>

Editorial Team: Dr. Viola Weber, Michaela Mißler, Dr. Gregor Breucker

Online registration

Online registration for the London conference is running on our 'Enterprise for Health' website.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=224>

(19.09.2008,)

Conference Programme

This two-day conference will present the latest expert thinking on employees' health in the rapidly changing world of work and address the key issues of workplace health. We are very much looking forward to outstanding keynote speeches, participative breakout sessions and a first-class plenary debate.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=216>

(17.09.2008,)

Breakout Sessions

On both days of the conference, parallel breakout sessions will take place on the theme "Managing healthy work – learning from each other". The sessions will provide an interesting mix of expert input, models of good practice, and discussions between the participants - a unique opportunity to learn how managers in leading international companies are facing up to the human challenges of globalisation, technological innovation and ageing workforces.

For further information, please refer to:

http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/fileadmin/texte/EfH_Conference_2008/efh_breakout_sessions_final25-09.pdf

(17.09.2008,)

Speakers

The conference will be opened by Lord McKenzie, Under Secretary (Lords) at the Department for Work and Pensions, UK, Liz Mohn, Vice Chair of the Executive Board, Bertelsmann Stiftung, and Rita Süßmuth, president of the network 'Enterprise for Health' on 30 October. National Director for Health & Work, UK, Dame Carol Black, will open the second day. Speakers will include Prof. Cary Cooper of the Lancaster University Management School, UK; Prof. Juhani Ilmarinen of the renowned Finnish Institute of Occupational Health and Prof. James O'Toole of the University of Southern California, USA.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=227>

(19.09.2008,)

Conference Dinner and Speech

The conference fee includes attendance of our official conference dinner, which is being held aboard the elegant flagship of the Silver Fleet. Apart from the ebb and flow of London's contemporary riverscape, a particular highlight will be the dinner speech "Total Leadership", which is being delivered by Prof. Stewart D. Friedman from the University of Pennsylvania.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=227>

(19.09.2008,)

Conference Publication

All participants will receive our comprehensive conference publication. It will include articles written by our experts as well as company contributions that provide an overview of the different approaches utilised by organisations in tackling the conference topics. A preview:

For further information, please refer to:

http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/fileadmin/texte/EfH_Conference_2008/efh_conference_book_preview.pdf

(26.09.2008,)

Conference Venue

EfH member GlaxoSmithKline (GSK) is a UKbased global pharmaceutical company. GSK's corporate headquarters in West London, 12 miles from Heathrow Airport, is an ultramodern, landmark office. The impressive edifice achieves ambitious environmental goals, supports the collaborative culture of the company.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=223>

(19.09.2008,)

Hotel Accommodation

The 'Enterprise for Health' conference office has reserved rooms at fixed rates at several hotels not far from the conference venue. Free coach transfer to and from the conference centre is not the only advantage of staying at one of our conference hotels.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=226>

(19.09.2008,)

Visit London

'When a man is tired of London, he is tired of life! - London has become one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world. This multi-cultural capital is full of history, heritage and culture, yet one of the most fast-moving, cosmopolitan cities on the planet.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=228>

(24.09.2008,)
