

Dear readers

we are pleased to provide you with our latest news from the field of corporate health policy and culture.

Kind regards
EfH-Newsletter-Team

The current topics

Workplace Health Promotion in a Crisis: Time to Invest, not Divest...

The economic recession which has swept across Europe has turned the spotlight on how companies treat their employees in a crisis. As enterprises look to reduce their costs by slimming down their workforces, should they instead be investing in the health of their employees to get a better return on their 'human capital'? Experiences from the European Network 'Enterprise for Health'. more...

Promoting Mental Health at Work in Times of Crisis

It is expected that the global economical "Tsunami" will also reach the European welfare states followed by typical psychosocial risks: increasing imbalance between "business class" and "working class", increase in income inequality, increasing residential mobility of workers, dramatic increase of unemployment, and a general anxiety regarding the future. Prof. Peter Richter, Dresden University of Technology, points out the organizational symptoms and ways out of the dilemma. more...

Reducing the Psychosocial Impact of the Financial and Economic Crisis

The European Commission highlights the need of supporting people through the crisis and of reducing its human cost. A key aspect in this context is to minimise the harmful impact of the crisis on the mental health and well-being of people. Papers and presentations of the Round Table held in Brussels on 27 April 2009 are now available. more...

Good Workplace Practices in Ireland, Flanders and Singapore

As the EU sees work-oriented innovations as a key to "better employment, cohesion and competitiveness in a knowledge-intensive society" a group of Finnish scientists has compiled a report which describes and compares good workplace practices in different regions. The report recommends actions in several areas to achieve the goal set by the Lisbon European Council to become the most competitive and dynamic knowledge-based economy in the world. The authors state improvements are possible and necessary. more...

Guidance Helps Encouraging Employees to Physical Activity

A public health guidance published by the United Kingdom's National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) gives recommendations on how to encourage employees to be physically active to employers and professionals in small, medium and large organisations who have a direct or indirect role in, and responsibility for, improving health in the workplace. Also NICE is positive that increasing physical activity levels will help prevent and manage over 20 conditions and diseases. more...

Events & Dates

20-22 August 2009: Gothenburg, Sweden --- The 6th Nordic Health Promotion Research Conference
more...

27-28 August 2009: Zurich, Switzerland --- Swiss Public Health Conference
more...

21 September 2009: Liverpool, United Kingdom --- EUROPEAN HEALTHY STADIA CONFERENCE
more...

23-25 September 2009: Tallinn, Estonia --- Better food at work the Nordic & Baltic experience
more...

30th September to 3rd October 2009: Bad Hofgastein, Austria --- 12th European Health Forum Gastein "Financial Crisis and Health Policy"
more...

20-23 October 2009: Elsinore, Denmark --- Understanding Small Enterprises – a healthy working life in a healthy business
more...

22-24 October 2009: Lisbon, Portugal --- XIth European Conference on Organizational Psychology and Human Service Work. New challenges and interventions in human services
more...

26-28 November 2009: Lodz, Poland --- 17th EUPHA Conference on Public Health
more...

PDF version

You no longer wish to receive the EfH Newsletter? Click here

Some of the topics and articles reported in this newsletter are not available on other individual websites - only here. All information is protected by copyright. We would be only too pleased if you were to recommend this newsletter to other addressees.

Imprint:
BKK Federal Association - Department of Health, Kronprinzenstrasse 6, 45128 Essen
<http://www.enterprise-for-health.org>

Editorial Team: Dr. Viola Weber, Michaela Mißler, Dr. Gregor Breucker

Workplace Health Promotion in a Crisis: Time to Invest, not Divest...

The economic recession which has swept across Europe has turned the spotlight on how companies treat their employees in a crisis. As enterprises look to reduce their costs by slimming down their workforces, should they instead be investing in the health of their employees to get a better return on their 'human capital?' Experiences from the European Network 'Enterprise for Health'.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=266>

(08.07.2009,)

Promoting Mental Health at Work in Times of Crisis

It is expected that the global economical "Tsunami" will also reach the European welfare states followed by typical psychosocial risks: increasing imbalance between "business class" and "working class", increase in income inequality, increasing residential mobility of workers, dramatic increase of unemployment, and a general anxiety regarding the future. Prof. Peter Richter, Dresden University of Technology, points out the organizational symptoms and ways out of the dilemma.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enterprise-for-health.org/index.php?id=267>

(08.07.2009,)

Reducing the Psychosocial Impact of the Financial and Economic Crisis

The European Commission highlights the need of supporting people through the crisis and of reducing its human cost. A key aspect in this context is to minimise the harmful impact of the crisis on the mental health and well-being of people. Papers and presentations of the Round Table held in Brussels on 27 April 2009 are now available.

For further information, please refer to: http://ec.europa.eu/health/ph_determinants/life_style/mental/ev_20090427_en.htm

(08.07.2009,)

Good Workplace Practices in Ireland, Flanders and Singapore

As the EU sees work-oriented innovations as a key to "better employment, cohesion and competitiveness in a knowledge-intensive society" a group of Finnish scientists has compiled a report which describes and compares good workplace practices in different regions. The report recommends actions in several areas to achieve the goal set by the Lisbon European Council to become the most competitive and dynamic knowledge-based economy in the world. The authors state improvements are possible and necessary.

For further information, please refer to:

http://www.mol.fi/mol/fi/99_pdf/fi/03_tutkimus_ja_kehittaminen/02_tykes/05_aineistopankki/julkaisut/Win1.pdf

(08.07.2009,)

Guidance Helps Encouraging Employees to Physical Activity

A public health guidance published by the United Kingdom's National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) gives recommendations on how to encourage employees to be physically active to employers and professionals in small, medium and large organisations who have a direct or indirect role in, and responsibility for, improving health in the workplace. Also NICE is positive that increasing physical activity levels will help prevent and manage over 20 conditions and diseases.

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.nice.org.uk/nicemedia/pdf/PH013Guidance.pdf>

(08.07.2009,)

20-22 August 2009: Gothenburg, Sweden --- The 6th Nordic Health Promotion Research Conference

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enwhp.org/index.php?id=603#938>

(24.10.2008,)

27-28 August 2009: Zurich, Switzerland --- Swiss Public Health Conference

For further information, please refer to:

http://www.public-health.ch/logicio/pmws/indexDOM.php?client_id=publichealth&page_id=home

(11.02.2009,)

21 September 2009: Liverpool, United Kingdom --- EUROPEAN HEALTHY STADIA CONFERENCE

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enwhp.org/index.php?id=613#971>

(27.02.2009,)

23-25 September 2009: Tallinn, Estonia --- Better food at work the Nordic & Baltic experience

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.foodandwork.net/>

(03.06.2009,)

30th September to 3rd October 2009: Bad Hofgastein, Austria --- 12th European Health Forum Gastein "Financial Crisis and Health Policy"

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.ehfg.org/index.php?id=6&L=0>

(03.06.2009,)

20-23 October 2009: Elsinore, Denmark --- Understanding Small Enterprises – a healthy working life in a healthy business

For further information, please refer to: <http://www.enwhp.org/index.php?id=610#962>

(07.01.2009,)

22-24 October 2009: Lisbon, Portugal --- XIth European Conference on Organizational Psychology and Human Service Work. New challenges and interventions in human services

For further information, please refer to: <http://enop2009.com/>

(05.03.2009,)

26-28 November 2009: Lodz, Poland --- 17th EUPHA Conference on Public Health

For further information, please refer to: http://www.eupha.org/site/upcoming_conference.php

(11.02.2009,)
